Finan Tells of Getting $15,500 From Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — House payola probers called a second former disc jockey today after hearing a colleague tell of receiving $15,500 in side payments over a two-year period.

Joseph Finan, who said he received the money as a consultant, and Wesley Hopkins, today's new witness, both spun records for Cleveland's radio-TV station KYW until they were fired last Dec. 3.

Denied He Took Payola
Hopkins has denied that he took payola—under-the-table payments or gifts for promoting records or products. He was called before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee, which is looking into payola on the ground such payments fool the public as to a record's worth or popularity.

Finan, 32, said he had received $15,500 from 15 record firms in 1958-59 for his opinions on which records would be hits and which would flop.

In addition to that money, he said, there was his annual salary from KYW of up to $40,000 and almost $2,000 a year additional for presiding at record hops for teenagers in small towns around Cleveland.

Agreed To Push Records
According to a sworn statement

read at the hearing, both Hopkins and Finan once agreed to push selected new RCA Victor records on the air for fees.

The fees — according to the statement by Byron Burneson, an independent Cleveland RCA Victor distributor—were to have been $50 weekly from his firm for every record that was plugged.

Finan said that just wasn't right. If it were, he said, he would have made up to $600 a week on that account alone.

Finan testified that Big Top Records gave him $450 for promoting

Cause of Death Not Known

Cardinal Stepinac, Tito Thorn, Dies

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac, 61, spiritual leader of seven million Yugoslav Roman Catholics and a thorn to the Tito regime, died today in his native village of Krasic.

Only Tuesday his personal physician had reported the Cardinal was suffering from a cold contracted because he insisted on more than four hours of daily praying in the unheated little parish church of Krasic, his native village.

The Cardinal had been confined to Krasic since he was released in 1951 from a 16-year prison term. He had been convicted of collaborating in World War II with Nazi Germany.

News of his death reached Belgrade this afternoon. He died this morning.

Cardinal Stepinac had suffered several years from a blood ailment that made him susceptible to thrombosis—blood clotting — attacks. Seven years ago a thrombosis of his left leg required surgery.

Although he was reported to have had a cold, his personal physician, Dr. Branislav Bogicevic, said Tuesday he thought the illness was not serious.

The cause of his death was not immediately known.

Cardinal Stepinac's trial and imprisonment aroused worldwide protests and resulted in a diplomatic break between Yugoslavia and the Vatican. He became a symbol of the Catholic Church resistance to communism.

The prelate in 1946 was sentenced to prison. He was accused of following the Nazi propaganda line, approving forced conversions to Catholicism, and working in harness with the Croatian puppet government in Yugoslavia.

He denied the charges. Shaking his finger at the Zagreb court in an impassioned speech, he declared that "as the Communists fight for materialistic theory, so have we the right to fight for Christianity."

Although he was sentenced to 16 years at hard labor, he was not required to work during his five years in prison near Zagreb. He spent most of his time reading and studying church history.

In July 1950, the Yugoslavs offered to free him if he would leave the country. The Vatican rejected the offer. In his cell Cardinal Stepinac told an Associated Press correspondent that he would not leave Yugoslavia "because I do not feel guilty."

He was freed conditionally on Dec. 5, 1951, and confined to Krasic. The Yugoslav government, referring to him as former archbishop, made it clear it did not recognize him as head of the Fire Damages Ware At Salem China Co.

Fire of undetermined origin damaged cartons of ceramic tile in a storage department at the Salem China Co. plant Tuesday evening.

Firemen, called to the scene at 9:42 p.m. by the night watchman, Hiram Hendricks of Penn Ave., extinguished the blaze before it could spread.

Chief Clarence Wright speculated that the cardboard cartons containing the ware might have become overheated by an adjacent boiler room.

Insurance will cover the loss which was estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000, company officials told the chief.

Senate May Probe Secret Hearing Leaks

Dirksen Irked by News Account of Dulles' Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) hints the Senate may investigate reported leaks of secret intelligence information given Congress behind closed doors.

In a Senate speech Tuesday, Dirksen quoted a column by Joseph Alsop as saying "the hard, disturbing facts and figures in the testimony of the director of the Central Intelligence Agency, Allen W. Dulles, before the Space Committee can now be revealed on an undoubted authority."

Dirksen, Senate Republican leader, asked: "Who is this undoubted authority? Who has made available, in whole or in part, or in paraphrase or in capsule form, any of the testimony given by the director of the CIA?"

"That becomes a very serious question when one is dealing with the whole problem of national defense and national security."

"I think it is something that merits further attention by the Senate."

Dirksen quoted an Alsop column which last week quoted Dulles as saying the United States expects the Soviet Union will have 35 intercontinental ballistic missiles on launchers by the end of June.

District Governor Fred Puttkamer of Greenford announced the appointment at the regular meeting of the Leetonia Ruritan Club Tuesday evening at the Franklin Square Methodist Church.

Mr. Puttkamer installed Dr. Gephart, who succeeds James Mellinger, whose work has transferred him to Columbus. He has been granted a leave of absence by the club.

Zone 3 consists of Glenmore, Lisbon, Salineville and Southern, in addition to Leetonia.

Vice president Wayne Holloway announced several projects of the club, with the major one being the making of a Little League baseball diamond at Orchard Hill School.

President Culver Stewart appointed Dr. Gephart, Robert Scanlon and Don Abel to study and revise the club's Constitution.

Mr. Scanlon, chairman of the finance committee, reported on several fund projects. Howard Wilhelm, secretary, reported on the recent national Ruritan convention in Louisville, Ky.

Woman Says Man She Shot Tried to Hug Her

HOPATCONG, N.J. (AP) — A loan office manager who came to collect a debt from an attractive divorcee was shot and killed when he tried to hug her, she told police.

The frozen body of Charles Attard of Caldwell was found smeared with blood Tuesday in the driveway of the police chief.

Officers arrested Alyce Anderson, 34, and charged her with murder and manslaughter.

Mrs. Anderson told police she fired at Attard Monday night when he shot at her with a tiny purse gun after he chased her into her bedroom.

Then the 130-pound woman smoked several cigarettes before lugging the hefty Attard into his car. She dumped the body in the driveway of Chief William Taylor.

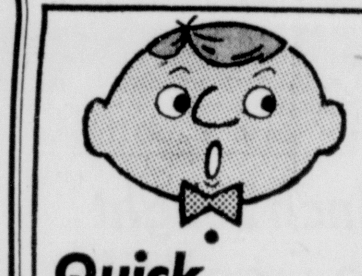

Attard, 40, had gone to her home to inquire about a $500 loan she owed a finance company.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Persons Planning Retirement Should Provide Needed Data

The district social security office offers some good advice to people who plan to retire and apply for social security benefits.

"To speed the payment of your first retirement check, bring the necessary proofs with you the first time you come in to file a claim for benefits," William J. McCauley, district manager, said today.

A person applying for retirement benefits needs to submit proof of age and of his or her earnings for 1959, he explained. "The end of the year and January through February are usually the peak time for retirement applications," Mr. McCauley said. "People can help us during this rush period, and at the same time avoid delays in getting their first payments by having the proofs with them when they visit the social security office."

"The best evidence of age," he said, "is a birth certificate issued shortly after birth, but people who do not have birth certificates can prove their age in a number of other ways." Baptismal records, birth date records in family Bibles, marriage certificates, voting records, and other old documents may also be acceptable. Usually the social security office will be able to suggest some document that will be near at hand or reasonably easy to get, if you will phone in advance of your visit, Mr. McCauley said.

Persons who believe that their dependents may be eligible for benefits should also bring documents to show their relationship, such as proof of marriage or adoption, as well as birth certificates or other proof of age for the dependents.

A wife age 62 or more, children under 18, and disabled children over 18 whose disability began in childhood are eligible for dependents' benefits if the person retiring is eligible.

To furnish proof of his earnings in 1959, a person who has worked for someone else can use the W-2 form given him by his employer. A self-employed person should bring a copy of his tax return for 1959 and also some evidence that the tax was paid, such as a cancelled check. He should also have an idea of how much he may earn in 1960, if he believes that he will be doing any further work.

Plus Factors In the Hunt Valve Co. Sale

Sale or merger of companies often gives rise to speculation that a local firm is being absorbed by a larger concern and the foregone conclusion is that the plant will be moved, lock, stock and barrel, to another community.

But, not so in the case of the Hunt Valve Company, which has been sold by stockholders to the Rockefeller-supported International Basic Economy Corporation.

IBEC's acquisition of the Hunt Company is expected to strengthen the local firm's position as a leading manufacturer of air and hydraulic control valves. Unlimited Rockefeller risk capital is available when needed for further exploitation of manufacturing or plant facilities.

Hunt Valve has been growing rapidly in recent years, its markets widening and its plant and office facilities here expanding, accordingly. IBEC, in its purchase agreement is committed to continue the operations here along the successful lines that have been charted by Nathan C. Hunt.

Mr. Hunt, who founded the company, and other stockholders have kept the interests of Salem paramount in their negotiations for the sale. They are to be complimented.

Two plant expansions in recent years and construction of a modern office building last summer give evidence of the company's rapid growth in the competitive market. Under IBEC's wing, the Hunt Valve Division's future looks even more promising.

Nixon's Wait-and-See Strategy

Vice President Nixon's refusal to list his campaign issues for a California newspaper group last weekend provides a clue to two interesting facets of this year's presidential contest.

In the first place, the vice president apparently is not about to put himself on the defensive with his opposition just because he is in the peculiar position of being his party's only real contender for the nomination.

The Democrats saw this position as an advantage for them on the ground that they could get to work on Mr. Nixon early and perhaps have him defeated by the time he becomes the official GOP candidate.

BUT, WITHOUT a word from him on his platform, they must necessarily shoot in the dark. They must base their early attacks on what they think his campaign issues will be, not what he thinks the issues will be.

This allows him to keep a watchful eye on their attacks in the meantime. Then he can come up with a whole new set of issues after his nomination, throwing the Democrats off balance and taking off in the race from the same starting point as if his nomination had been in doubt all the time. Or he can use a new approach to the same issues, offsetting the effect of his opponents' arguments.

In the second place, the growing trend toward emphasis on personalities rather than issues shows no signs of abating in 1960.

As the vice president told his audience, it would be difficult for him to state his issues without knowing which of the personalities on the other side will be his opponent. Frequently it is difficult to distinguish between the views held by opponents in the two parties on the issues that make up a campaign battleground.

THIS, PLUS the "easy-way-out" attitude of many voters, plus the advent of television in campaigns, has tended to play down the issues and put the big campaigns on the basis of personality attraction.

Otherwise, the issues already would be drawn, pretty much beyond the control of the individuals involved, and the principals in the campaign would be viewed in the shadow of the great issues. As it is, the issues are more and more viewed in the shadow of the principals.

Thus, the Democrats can be expected to make their decision among the many hopefuls on the basis of which, as a personality, has the best chance to meet and beat the personality of Richard M. Nixon.

For his part, the vice president appears ready to take any of the Democrats on. He'll just wait and see what develops.

Facing Up to Hitler's Ghost

On the 27th anniversary last week of Adolph Hitler's rise to power in Germany, Jewish leaders in West Germany and New York urged the present Bonn government to end its policy of silence on the crimes of the Nazi rule.

Their remarks were prompted, of course, by the recent outbreak of anti-Semitic vandalism in many nations which were sparked by the desecration of a synagogue in Germany.

It has now been well documented that at least the original act of vandalism was inspired by the Communists to discredit the West German democratic government and to spread distrust among its allies.

THE RED STRATEGY was at least momentarily successful to a degree, because Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his aides were acutely embarrassed by the malicious acts. Part of their embarrassment could be laid to the fact that they have virtually denied the existence of any carryover of Nazi feeling among the West Germans.

This is probably what the Jewish leaders meant by the proposal to end the policy of silence. It is difficult to hide a skeleton in a closet indefinitely. Painful though it may be to face the fact of the existence of the skeleton, it is often better in the long run to bring it out in the open for all to see, and then live down its haunting reminders. There is nothing to hide in the future when that is done.

The friends of postwar West Germany have shown beyond any doubt their willingness to forgive whatever blame the German people must share for the insane actions of the mad Hitler. The Germans themselves have shown they are worthy of that forgiveness by their public demonstrations of anguish over the Christmas Day vandalism.

But the fact remains that the old Nazi fantasies still lie ingrained in a few distorted minds in Germany. And these crackpots stand their best chance of resurgence among the children of Germany who know nothing of the wrongs of Hitler's creed.

AND END TO the silence on those wrongs would serve the purpose of training the young generation against falling for a fallacious philosophy. That in turn would provide West Germany with the best assurance that such madness could never again close its grip on the nation.

In the meantime, by living down rather than trying to hide the hideous skeleton, the democratic government of West Germany would be less susceptible to embarrassment at the hands of devious Communist plotters.

Since the Christmas Day affair, Chancellor Adenauer and the leaders of other nations have spoken more frankly of the situation than at any other time since the end of World War II. This frankness was a major factor in the ultimate boomerang of the Red plot.

That, in itself, is proof of the wisdom of the rabbis' proposal.

Why don't careless drivers realize that bars on jail windows are not there to keep them out.

Once Over

Will the feature of the Soviet auto to be sold in the U.S. be a rear light that will flash "NYET" when you foot your horn for it to move over? American buyers will want "NO LEFT TURN" signs in the car as well as on the roads. The "Moskvich" has no glamor but these "extras" are possible:

1. Windshield wiper in rear window instead of front, just to be arbitrary.
 2. Direction light that will point in opposite direction from which the driver is about to turn. (Purely for purposes of exasperation.)
 3. A record, turned on by push-button, that will cry "This is coexistence" when ramming car ahead.
 4. The trunk so roomy it will hold a year's supply of votes for traffic signs.
- We hear the car will use gas, with vodka optional. Exact styling details are lacking. But the model will, of course, have typical Russian "hardtop and 'stern front'."

It was to have five speeds but the top one was abandoned in order that anybody may "take the Fifth" in motion.

We haven't heard of "Moskvich" special models but assume care will be obtainable in "the Ultimatum de Luxe," the "Karl Marx Sports Car" the "Excoriator Special" and the "Volga Squabble Kar." In Russia it takes two years to get delivery. (In America it may take that long to get an order.)

The best sales argument when customer asks, "How do I know a Russian car will suit me?" will be, "If the Soviet rocket can make the moon trip, you will get a bargain if the auto goes only half the distance."

Some street-corner opinions: Oscar Wiltly, Bronx: I think the Soviet car may go big with people who don't care what their neighbors say. Jarvis Steukle, Manhattan: I'm worried not only whether Khrushchev will send spare parts on time but whether he will even send spare alibis.

Poulney Swinkle, Staten Island: One thing worries me. Will the Soviet car extras include sheepskin hats, Bolshoi boots and a coexistence flag for use when knocking the Free World drivers off the road?

Students at Amherst are reported welcoming Dr. Calvin Plimpton, surgeon, as new dean in belief he won't be against "cuts."

One of the last of the old-time New England waterfront hotels, the Sheldon House, at Pine Orchard, Conn., overlooking the Thimble Islands, is no more. It had wide fame and was well known to actors and actresses on the summer "straw hat circuit." It was a delightful place and will be replaced by residential project.

Who IS the Firstest With the Mostest?

Boom Economy Seen

By RAY CROMLEY

Worried about the next decade? Relax.

The nation's statisticians and economists have taken out their charts, looked at their mathematical formulas, consulted with the Census Bureau, and come up with this cheering news:

So many young couples will be getting married and having babies in the 1960's that the nation's factories, stores, beauty parlors and filling stations, auto, home, vacuum cleaner and toy salesmen; doctors, lawyers, and almost everyone else will be busy just keeping up with the business.

Some 4,000 assorted economists and statisticians met here recently to try out some of their ideas and predictions on each other. These are not the views of all 4,000. Frankly no two men seen agree precisely on anything. Rather this is a sort of consensus of representative economists, reached by men who have been studying what's ahead. Specifically—by 1970:

THE U. S. WILL have a population of between 203 million and 220 million.

Employment will be up around 81 million to 82 million. Unemployment will be about 3,400,000. The average work week will be only 37 hours.

The Gross National Product—the total production of goods and services—will be up about 50 percent to $723 billion.

New homes will be built at an average rate of one and a half million a year all during the 1960's, compared with only a million predicted for 1960.

OR IN DOLLARS, new homes will be built at the rate of almost $25 billion a year compared with $16 billion expected for 1960. The average home with be a little bigger, and more expensive.

There'll still be recessions in the 60's—around every four years or so. But they'll be mild, more on the order of the 1957-58 recession—or a little more severe.

But don't expect any big boom busts like that of 1929 and the early 1930's.

Creeping inflation will continue. Even if successive administrations attempt more and more controls, these won't stop it.

SOCIAL SECURITY will continue to expand. So will company pension plans—also unemployment compensation programs.

A growing surplus of unskilled labor looms for the '60's. There will be more labor unrest and labor turnover—due in part to the flooding of younger people into the labor market as a result of the baby boom that started two decades ago.

At present, about 900,000 men and women enter the labor force every year. The average will hit close to 1,300,000 a year in the first half of the '60's—and around 1,500,000 a year between 1965 and 1970.

There will be a growing shortage of industrial managers. White collar workers will gradually outnumber blue collar men.

THE TREND will be for fewer people to be thrown out of work during recessions.

Farm income will continue to move downward. The migration from the farms to the cities will continue. The rate of migration will increase in the '60's.

There will be a major shift of workers out of manufacturing and mining into the services and professions.

Foreign competition will continue to grow as some key competing countries continue to modernize their factories at a faster rate than American companies.

New products will be developed during the '60's at an even faster rate than in the decade just past. The reason: a whopping increase in industrial research in the next 10 years.

An Untouchable Issue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Unlawful Use of Force by Labor Picket Lines

It happened in Sen. Kennedy's home state of Massachusetts but it's an issue that neither he nor any other aspirant for the presidency apparently will care to touch.

It has to do with something just as important as the civil rights question in the South, about which so much righteous indignation is being expressed by the various seekers after the presidential nomination.

Indeed, not a word has come from any of the so-called liberals in protest against what "The Boston Herald" described in two editorials last week—the unlawful use of physical force by labor unions on the picket line.

The second editorial by "The Boston Herald" reads in part as follows:

"We said last Friday that brute force picketing was going on in the Fore River shipyard strike and that this was one field of human conflict in which civilized society still sanctions physical violence."

THE EDITORIAL then went on to quote the police chief of Quincy as follows:

The Quincy police tried on five occasions to break through the picket line. We were successful in breaking the picket line on our first attempt. From there on the union managed to keep a sufficient number of pickets in line so that the police were unsuccessful in the four succeeding attempts."

"The Herald" asked why the police chief didn't enforce the law and quotes his reply:

"Because there wouldn't be sufficient numbers of Quincy police and state police to maintain law and order and the streets of Quincy needlessly would be drenched with blood which would cause us to hang our heads in shame for the rest of our lives."

Then "The Herald" makes this comment:

"This is saying exactly what we were trying to say. Society has so generally condoned the use of force by pickets that the police often find it impracticable to apply the law as they would apply it against any other riotous assembly. Political sympathy and often popular sympathy are instinctively with the strikers, so by general consent the civil law is not enforced. A sort of strikers' law prevails."

With just a few slight changes stances of the controversy, the above could have been said about the case of Mack Charles Parker in Mississippi, who wasn't disturbed for several weeks while held in jail for grand jury action and trial on the charge of raping a white woman.

Then came the announcement of his attorneys that they would seek the same relief as the Supreme Court had afforded in a similar case, in which, because a Negro was on the jury panel, a convicted rapist had been given stays of execution and new trials over a period of years.

Popular indignation resulted in the lynching and the local authorities stood by without punishing the guilty.

POPULAR FEELING is no justification for any lynching or any breaking down of the laws on picketing but it would advance the cause of law enforcement everywhere if the local police in certain cities in the North were also universally condemned for their laxity in enforcing the law. "The Boston Herald" states the issue clearly as follows.

"Why can't 250 supervisory personnel get into the plant to maintain costly machinery?"

"Why can't estimators needed to prepare bids for shipbuilding contracts have access to essential files?"

"Why can't 600 naval architects, technicians and engineers working on research, development, design and testing for all Bethlehem yards get to the central technical department?"

"Why, in short, can't management have the services of all employees willing to cross any picket line they can cross without meeting physical resistance?"

"Is it not because, in his domain, society has come to approve the use of physical force?"

There were several instances recently in the nationwide steel strike when supervisory and maintenance employees either were kept out of various plants or were allowed access only by special permission of the union even though these employees were not members of the union.

It will be argued that all this is a matter for the states. So are lynchings and so is the right to fix the qualifications of voters but unless the champions of the current "civil rights" crusade are willing to find a remedy also for the violation of civil rights by union picket lines, it will appear to the public as a whole that the "civil rights" issue is nothing more than a vote-getting device for politicians.

If there were real sincerity behind it, the pending legislation would deal comprehensively, too, with the loss of civil rights due to labor-union behavior on the picket line.

Out of Ideas

By TRUMAN TWILL

Robert M. Hutchins, an uptown intellectual with the scars to prove it, has said what I've been wondering about.

Events and problems have outdistanced ideas.

We are using bow-and-arrow calculations in an era of intercontinental missiles.

In the absence of thoughts to lend form, purpose and order to our lives, we are substituting slogans.

The old war cries and rallying calls have no zing.

Things are a lot of sound and fury signifying nothing—but signifying what is even more horrible, a total absence of something. No wonder we're confused.

Like everything else this dispirited intellectual lends his name to, this point of view is calculated to get Mr. Hutchins into hot water. No one who thinks he is on the right track with some personal point of view or formula is going to take a bright view of this newest "Hutchinsult."

But aside from hurt feelings, it is worth a second thought that the world moves on and events have outdistanced the means of interpreting and understanding events.

The same thing that happened to Karl Marx, who tried to predict the 20th century in terms of his scant knowledge of the 19th may be happening to millions of us, chiefly including the Communists, because these deluded people never have been allowed to know what is going on. They never heard of people's capitalism, in which working stiffs actually can own the tools of production.

Or if you come right down to it, including the capitalists, too, because every survey shows young capitalists have no more idea than a rabbit what makes things work. People call things by names they don't deserve and cling to notions that were blown up years ago, if in fact they ever existed.

We quote aphorisms that have nothing to do with the price of eggs and claim to be upholding principles that we never understood.

Garden Study Club to Hear Guest Speaker on March 14

Garden Study Club will meet on March 14 at 8 p.m. in the Ruth Smucker House when Mrs. H. E. Parham, guest speaker, will talk on the subject, "Gardening is Fun."

Members are asked to bring exhibits in the following classifications: Arrangement featuring weathered wood using fresh material (accessory permitted); arrangement featuring weathered wood (accessory permitted); arrangement featuring weathered wood using dried material (accessory permitted).

The club members enjoyed a "pot luck" dinner Monday evening at the Smucker House. A red and white Valentine motif was carried out in the red carnation centerpiece and Valentine heart cakes on the refreshment table covered with a red dinner cloth overlaid with white lace.

Mrs. Fred Koenreich made the mantle display for the Smucker House. Hostesses for the dinner were Mrs. Francis Horning, chairman, Mrs. Vernon Broonall and Mrs. Martin Lutsch.

A workshop featuring birds and dried material was conducted following the dinner and business meeting. Mrs. A. S. Huffman, the guest adviser and judge, gave her opinion on each of the finished arrangements.

Mrs. Russell Limestahl gave an informative talk on "The Birds in My Winter Garden." Many birds flock to feed in the Limestahl garden, among them male and female pheasants.

Helpful hints included in Mrs. Limestahl's talk follow:

Make birdfeeders by pressing ground suet into pinecones then rolling the cones in wild bird seed. A half coconut shell makes a good container for water at the birdfeeder station.

A small mirror in the bottom of a water container will keep the water from freezing. A few drops of glycerine also will keep water from freezing.

Raisins are good additions to a wild bird seed mixture. Peanut butter also is enjoyed by birds, and sparrows seem to like chicken scratch.

Mrs. Russell Moore suggested attaching ears of corn to cut ends of a wire coat hanger which can be easily hung in a tree.

It was announced that the Garden Center is sponsoring bus trips to the Cleveland Home and Flower show March 8 and 10. The public is invited. More information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Horning at ED 7-3323.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Precautions Help Check Pre-Birth Defects

I want to address this column to those engaged couples and newlyweds who feel that no precaution and sacrifice is too great to prevent the one-in-hundreds chance that their baby may be born with an avoidable defect.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

birth.

PREMARITAL AND prenatal tests in modern times have banished some of the threats to the unborn child. But others have appeared to menace the innocent new-comer.

In some cases, a mismatch of the parents' bloods may cause severe damage to young tissues, especially to the brain. When you go for your blood tests, you should ask the physician to check the so-called Rh factor.

If this results in a mismatch, do not panic. Many Rh-incompatible couples become parents of fine, healthy children. (I have in front of me now a picture of one of my former office nurses and her five buxom youngsters, none of whom suffered as result of their parents' mismatched bloods).

HOWEVER, we are dealing—as I indicated at the outset—with the long chance and the assured fact that you won't want to omit any reasonable precaution.

Should your test show mismatched blood, I recommend that you ask the doctor who is to deliver your baby to recommend a blood specialist. He may recommend preventive treatment during pregnancy; he may insist that your baby be delivered at a hospital equipped to transfuse compatible blood into your baby's veins at birth.

Mother must carefully avoid exposure to any child with an eruptive disease, such as German measles. Experience has shown that mothers who catch German measles early in their pregnancy often have children with birth defects.

LIKE MANY physicians I have for years recommended that mothers deliberately expose their daughters to German measles so as to avoid this risk.

If I had my way, I would banish household pets, at least during the first half of pregnancy. Some very rare cases have been known where an organism has passed from a pet through the blood of the mother to cause damage to the baby's eyesight.

AND, FINALLY, if I were mother, I'd knock off smoking—at least during pregnancy. Figures recently released from England indicate babies from nonsmoking mothers average six ounces heavier than those of smokers. Again it's a question as to whether you want to take every precaution. A final word of caution: None of these steps will be worthwhile if pregnancy becomes a nightmare for you, your husband and other loved ones. Keep active in all the interests you had before you became pregnant. Continue normal work and play.

The order will use the buildings as a residence for members studying nursing and teaching in schools here.

Brown Solves Problem Of Oversized Ballots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has found a way to get around the problem of oversized ballots for the May 3 primary elections.

He'll have two ballots made for each party.

When he tried to fit the large number of candidates for each party on one ballot, he found the ballots could not be kept within the 22-by-17-inch maximum size for printing presses in many smaller counties.

He is putting candidates for the Democratic national convention on a 21-by-11-inch ballot and other elective offices on a 16-by-10½-inch ballot.

Republican convention delegates will appear on a ballot 19 by 5 inches and those for other offices on 14-by-10½ ballot.

Bits of This And That

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The average home is almost as dangerous as the average high way. Home accidents are responsible for a death every 19 minutes, a nonfatal injury every 8 seconds.

Probably never again will we elect as president a man born in a log cabin. As recently as 1935 two out of three births took place in homes. Now 95 out of a 100 babies are born in hospitals.

The bald eagle has a number of sad traits—for one thing, it's a robber—but it is a very loyal parent. Even if the tree in which it is nesting is set on fire, it will not desert its young.

Virginia has three rivers named Cowpasture, Bullpasture and Calpasture.

Signs of the times: one is in a store here: "Old furniture we buy. Antiques we sell."

A British government survey found that two-thirds of all divorces occurred among couples that had one child or none. Divorces were twice as high among couples who married before the age of 20, and divorces were least among those who married at 24 and had at least two children.

Government officials estimate that by 1970 nearly half of all women aged 35 to 64 will be in the labor force, and 12.2 per cent 65 and over will be holding down jobs.

The world's largest tombstone and one of history's greatest government boondoggle projects is the 5,000-year-old Great Pyramid of Cheops near Cairo. It required the muscle of 100,000 men working three months a year for 30 years.

Our quotable notable Mark Twain, an astute observer of the political scene, once commented: "Fleas can be taught anything that a congressman can."

Men like to joke about women's hats, but here's what it takes to make a man's hat: 6 rabbit pelts, the labor of some 90 people, 120 different processes, and 84 gallons of water!

One thing the Russians did invent is bridge. This card game, first mentioned in 1836, was then known as Russian whist.

It was H. L. Mencken who observed, "Love is like war—easy to begin but very hard to stop."

As cooking is the club's project this year, three family groups were chosen.

three records and said that one Madison record he played for $150 went on to become a hit.

Finan said he also gave special attention to Hugo & Luigi records in making up his show. He acknowledged getting $1,400 in seven $200 monthly payments from this firm.

Listed 12 Other Firms

Subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman and Finan listed 12 other firms from which Finan also acknowledged receiving payments.

Commenting on his agreement to "keep a special watch" for the labels of the firms paying him, Finan said:

"It did not seem immoral, because I felt I was rendering a service."

To a question by Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.), Finan said that all of the record firms dropped his service when he was fired.

When Moss questioned why they would do this when they were paying him as an "expert"—not as a disc jockey—Finan said he saw nothing unusual about that.

Brewer Disappears; Kidnaping Feared

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Adolph Coors III, wealthy brewer and industrialist, vanished from his blood-flecked car on a rural road Tuesday, touching off a vast manhunt in the Rocky Mountain foothills west of Denver.

Sheriff Art Wermuth said Coors may be a kidnap victim.

FBI agents, lacking immediate jurisdiction, were poised to enter the case. Sheriff's deputies afoot, in Jeeps and on horses were joined today by low-flying aircraft in the search.

Coors' carry-all wagon, its motor still running, was found on a small wooden bridge which spans a shallow creek. Blood was found on the bridge railing and on the seat of the vehicle.

The missing man's glasses and baseball-type cap were found on the creek bank below the bridge.

Coors, 44, left his foothills home at 8 a.m. for the 12-mile drive to the Adolph Coors Co. here, where he is board chairman. His auto was found nearly three hours later by the driver of a milk truck.

Instructors Return

From Columbus Parley

Miss Edith Forbes, principal of Fourth Street School, and Paul R. Rother, teacher at McKinley School, attended the second annual professional conference held at the Ohio state fairgrounds in Columbus Thursday through Saturday.

The conference was co-sponsored by the Ohio Department of Elementary School Principals and the State Department of Education. It featured work groups, clinics, special topic sections, demonstrations, exhibits, and addresses by leaders in the field of education.

The keynote speaker was Dr. Herbert Rudman of Michigan State University.

New Law Can Affect Teenagers' Driving

Two traffic violations — no matter how minor — can now deprive teenagers of their right to drive.

A new law, enacted in November, stipulates that after his or her second violation, the teenager's drivers license is lifted until the offender reaches 18 years of age and until one year has elapsed from the date of revocation.

State Patrolmen point out that under the new setup, even two stop sign violations would suffice to have the license lifted. The law states the license will be revoked by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles rather than the local juvenile court.

Mid-County Republican Club Dance Is Friday

LISBON —The Mid-County Republican Club hopes for 400 at their Lincoln Day dance and card party Friday evening at the American Legion Hall on W. Lincoln Way.

Dancing will feature the Tune Masters Orchestra.

Mrs. Joan Dixon is president of the club.

INDUCTED INTO SERVICE

Two Salineville area residents left for Cleveland Tuesday for induction into the armed services. Draft Board 16 at Lisbon reported.

Howard G. Harker, RD 1, and Fred Gullett, RD 2, were scheduled for induction this morning.

Seventeen will leave next Tuesday for pre-induction physicals.

Lisbon Board To Study Need Of Insurance

LISBON — A detailed appraisal of the Lisbon Exempted Village School District shows that the board is carrying $825,449 less insurance than the cost of replacing the buildings and equipment, according to reports made at the school board meeting Tuesday night.

The appraisal shows replacement costs of buildings and equipment is $2,111,758 although the actual sound value was listed at $1,750,249. Present insurance coverage is only $924,800.

A meeting will be held later with insurance companies to go over this new listing and have them make recommendations.

The survey was made by the Industrial Appraisal Co. of Pittsburgh at a cost to the board of $2,024.

The board authorized the purchase of $441 physics equipment; $332 chemistry; and $807, elementary science or a total of $1,381 worth of the equipment at a school cost of $690, because the government shares half the cost.

Howard Lehman and Gerald Chappel were authorized to attend the 13th annual forum on visual problems of child and youth to be held Feb. 26-28 in Cleveland.

Principal Dave Borrow and William Hayes visited the Surplus Commodity warehouse in Columbus and purchased $50 worth of equipment for the cafeteria at Lincoln School. It is estimated that if the equipment was purchased retail it would have cost the board $400.

A report of Lincoln school cafeteria by the Columbiana County Health Department shows only one negative criticism which is the lack of storage room.

Edwin Bucher's American history class was given permission to visit Gettysburg June 3-4. The trip this year will be made in 15 private cars since out-of-state trips in school buses is limited to 120 miles. The board is expected to furnish gas and oil for the automobiles.

Financial reports for basketball games in Lisbon shows Columbiana $174.92; Louisville $175.62; East Palestine $223.82; Sebring $193.11 and tri-county preview at Louisville gave Lisbon $23.85.

The next board meetings will be March 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Chief Warns Drivers Of Insufficient Lights

Are your tail lights lit or will they light when you need them?

Chief Martin Lutsch of the Salem Police Department contends that most motorists can't answer this one without checking first and that a high percentage of motorists are going to find their tail lights malfunctioning.

Results of recent safety checks showed that the absence of either tail lamps or head lamps ranked second in causes for vehicles not passing inspection, the chief said. The safety check, he said, rejected 18.6 per cent of all cars tested because of one or more burned out lights.

Making certain that tail lights are working is a simple matter. Have some member of the family stand behind the car while you test your rear lights and turn signals, Chief Lutsch said.

He also noted that motorists caught without the required lights are subject to arrest and fine.

Boardman Selects To 'Run,' Smearred 95-72 By Salem

5 Quakers Score In Double Figures

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Salem flashed its most potent scoring attack of the season Tuesday night at Boardman as the state's third ranked cage power racked up a 95-72 victory over the Spartans.

Boardman, which dropped its 12th game in 15 starts, decided to take its chances and try to run with the Quakers. Salem happily accepted the challenge, and the standing room only crowd at the Boardman gym was treated to 32 minutes of race horse basketball.

Don Hunsinger, a deadweight 6-foot-4 forward, opened the game as if he could take on the entire Quaker team by himself. Hunsinger's sharp shooting kept Boardman in the lead for the first 4:25 of the game.

THE QUAKERS couldn't find the hoop in the opening minutes of the contest. Almost three minutes went by before Dave Hunter swooped down the foul lane with a driving underhand layup for Salem's first points of the game.

It was Hunter again, this time with a left-handed hook, which put the Quakers on top for the first time, 8-7, with 3:35 remaining in the quarter. The Quakers were never again headed.

Salem finished the period on top 19-15. The Quakers increased the margin steadily to 45-29 at the half and 71-46 after three quarters.

Hunter and Hunsinger put on a hot personal scoring duel in the first half. The Boardman ace went to the dressing room at halftime with 18 points, one more than Salem's sure fire all-state guard was able to put on the scoreboard.

HOWEVER, WHERE Hunsinger was a one-man show in the first half for Boardman, the Quakers pulled to their big advantage because they were clicking as a unit.

Big Don Davidson reached back and pulled out some of the old scrap which he had let get away in recent games. The 6-4 junior was battling for rebounds and hitting consistently with an almost unstoppable jump shot from about 20 feet out.

Hard driving guard Dan Krichbaum always seemed to be in the right place at the right time on both offense and defense. His long one-handers hurt the Spartans, as did his harassing tactics on defense. The Quaker co-captain has a rare talent which enables him to stick like a shadow to the man he is guarding.

FORWARD JIM LEHWALD turned in an outstanding all-around performance. He was especially effective in the middle two quarters with his arcing left-handed jump shot.

The alert senior also turned in some sparkling defensive plays. On one occasion Boardman had a three on one fast break underway but Lehwald took the ball away from them and put Salem on the attack.

Senior Jim Solmen didn't enter the game until late in the first quarter, but he came through in fine fashion. The 6-2 forward was hot from the field, hitting on seven of eight shots.

Hunter kept the fans buzzing with his basketful of shots. His 25 points was high for the Quakers, despite the fact that he sat out 11:25 of the game, including the entire third quarter.

HUNTER WAS benched after he picked up his fourth personal foul.

Harshman, Eskay Score 19 Apiece as Reserves Win 74-55

Junior Fred Harshman and sophomore Bob Eskay, heirs apparent to guards Dan Krichbaum and Dave Hunter on the Quaker varsity, each fired in 19 points Tuesday night to lead the Salem reserves to a 74-55 win over host Boardman.

The Quaker Jayvees broke open a tight game in the final quarter

144 Vie In Phoenix Golf Tournament

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The big winds died down in Phoenix today — the kind whipped up by nature and those talked up by amateur golfers — as the pro-am prelude to the Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

The storm that complicated Tuesday's qualifying for 170 would-be competitors in the 25th annual tournament starting Thursday blew out of the state.

The gassy golfers went out on the 6,620-yard Phoenix Country Club course to try to make good their boasts in the unusual presence of galleries and the elite of the nation's pro shotmakers.

In all, 144 golfers teed off on the par 36-35-71 layout the pros take over Thursday in the 72-hole chase for $22,500 in prizes.

Winds clocked at 37 miles per hour pushed up scores as 74 spots in the open field were filled. The survivors of the qualifying round join 76 exempted pros and amateurs in the tournament field.

in the final minute of the first half. He re-entered the fray in the fourth quarter and dropped in eight consecutive foul shots. He was 11 for 11 from the foul line for the game. He was replaced by Krichbaum with 2:30 remaining in the contest.

Salem's well-balanced attack had five men hitting in double figures. Besides Hunter's 25 markers, Lehwald pumped in 17, Solmen and Davidson each 15 and Krichbaum 14.

Hunsinger led all scorers in the game with 27 points. He missed an opportunity to add to his total when he missed on seven of 10 foul shots.

For a time the Quakers looked like they might reach the century mark in scoring. Salem was on top 88-59 with 3:58 remaining in the game. Coach John Cabas kept shuffling his lineup but kept at least one starter in the game throughout the final quarter.

CABAS USED everybody off his bench except Bob Eskay, Ron Janovec and Fred Harshman, all of whom had played their allotted four quarters in the reserve game.

As the Quakers tried for the 100 mark, they quit concentrating on defense in the final minutes of the game. As a result, Boardman ran up 72 points, the largest total racked up against a Salem team in two and a half years.

The last opponent to top 72 points was Youngstown South who, midway through the 1956-57 season, defeated Salem 78-71. Cleveland East Tech tallied 71 markers against Salem in the state finals last year.

The 95 points scored by Salem was the most it has rolled up since the Quakers dumped Youngstown East 98-50 in the finals of the sectional tournament at Youngstown last year.

SALEM CONVERTED a cool 44.9 per cent of its shots from the field against Boardman, hitting on 33 of 73 attempts. Boardman posted a 38.6 accuracy mark with 27 goals in 70 shots.

From the foul line Salem was 25 for 35 and Boardman 18 for 28.

Officials M. J. Maro and Matt Wansack called 23 fouls on Boardman and 19 on Salem. Guard Chuck Port of Boardman who fouled out with 3:58 remaining in the tilt, was the only man to leave the game via the personal foul route.

Salem will take a 14-1 record into its next game on Friday at Akron St. Vincent.

Here are the statistics for the Salem-Boardman game:

when they outscored the Spartan reserves 27-11. Salem led by only three points going into the fourth quarter.

The Quakers literally ran away from the Spartans in the final period. After an ordinary performance in the first three periods, Coach Karl Eilers' combine suddenly caught fire.

With Ron Janovec and Tod Couchie handling the rebounding and Eskay and substitute guard Gary Jeffries the shooting and ball hawking, Salem raced up and down the floor, pouring the ball through the hoop at a four-points-per-minute clip. The reserves played seven-minute quarters instead of the usual eight last night.

Eskay hit 10 points and Jeffries six in the final seven minutes of the game.

Boardman was on top 12-11 after the first period. Two foul shots by Harshman after the buzzer had sounded the end of the first half sent Salem to the dressing room at intermission with a 28-26 lead.

The Quakers were on top 47-44 when the storm broke loose in the final quarter.

Ruscoe of Boardman took down scoring honors in the game with 22 points.

The win for Salem was its 13th in 14 games.

Akron Hoban Top Drawing Card on '59 Salem Grid List

Akron Hoban was the top drawing card on Salem High's 1959 grid schedule, according to the annual football financial report released at the Board of Education meeting Monday.

Receipts from the Hoban game totaled $2,410.60. Total income from six home games was $13,846.10. This included the sale of 293 season tickets which brought in $2,051.

Here are the receipts, excluding season tickets, for Salem's other five home games:

Cleveland Lincoln	$2,152.15
Ravenna	$1,964.85
Canton Timken	$2,380.60
Boardman	$1,537.25
Girard	$1,349.65

A reserve game with Wellsville netted $36.20 to bring total receipts for home games to $13,882.30.

Guarantees from out-of-town games and other miscellaneous items, such as the high school association budget, brought the total football receipts for 1959 to $16,725.05.

Total payments of $15,796.01 left a surplus of $929.04. Added to a balance from 1958 of $5,285.34 the total 1958 balance and 1959 surplus amounted to $6,285.34.

Non-operational expenses totaling $1,825 cut the fund balance as of Dec. 31, 1959 to $4,460. Largest item listed here was $750 for gymnasium equipment.

Guarantees paid to visiting schools amounted to $2,323.58. Of this total, $1,023.58 was paid to Akron Hoban. Other guarantees were Cleveland Lincoln, $500; Ravenna $150; Canton Timken, $250; Boardman, $250, and Girard, $150.

Phillies Still Weak In Batting, Relief Pitching, Sawyer Says

By EDDIE SAWYER

Manager, Philadelphia Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies are hopeful of moving up at least one or two pegs in 1960.

I think we should be improved because of added youth, speed and better defense. We have a number of boys up from our minor league farm system as well as some young players obtained through deals who should make us an improved club.

Our prime need, however, is over-all depth. We still need help with the bat, particularly right-handed. We need better relief pitching. Our bullpen was not good enough last year.

I am pretty well satisfied with my four starters, Robin Roberts, Gene Conley, Jim Owens and Don Cardwell. We are hopeful that Curt Simmons, who underwent elbow surgery last year, will be able to give us sorely needed southpaw pitching strength. We are also looking for a greater contribution from Ruben Gomez.

Through trades and draft selections we acquired John Callison, prospects and I feel we're strong here with real major leaguers right down the line.

The outfield is improved with the addition of Roger Maris from Kansas City. Mickey Mantle had an off year, but there's no reason why he shouldn't come back. He's still young (28). Hector Lopez gave us a lot of big hits last year and he's a good RBI man.

I purpose left pitching for last. We think we've got the makings of a good staff with fine young prospects coming up from the minors, headed by lefty Bill Short, top pitcher in the International League last year. Art Ditmar did a good job as starter and relief pitcher last year and should continue to improve. Bob Turley was way off but his arm is sound and he should come back. Whitey Ford is still a winner and if he's sound he could be our big man again. Ryne Duren will help in the bullpen if his wrist has healed. Jim Coates came fast and Bobby Shantz, John Gabler and Eli Guba all can help us.

Before I finish, I want to mention youngster like Deron Johnson, Jack Reed and Ken Hunt who could add punch and speed to the outfield.

Last year's second division clubs probably will have to be reckoned with. Baltimore gave up pitching to get some outfield power. But the Orioles still have good young pitchers and should be a better club this year. Boston has done a lot of shuffling and so has Kansas City. Both these clubs should be improved as should Washington.

Now let's take a look at the Yankees. We have the best catching in the league. Yogi Berra improved his hitting last year though his power fell off slightly. But he's a valuable man. Elston Howard is certainly a great man to back up Yogi.

At first, Bill Skowron looked like he was going to have one of his best seasons when he got hurt. Our doctors say he's 100 per cent now. Bobby Richardson, our second baseman, was our only regular to hit .300. Tony Kubek improved his hitting and he is developing into a good shortstop.

Andy Carey is a good third baseman and he's back in shape. Gil McDougald is sure to hit better. We have some other young infield players who should make us an improved club.

Chamberlain Sets New Mark

Nets 41 to Shatter Scoring Record

DETROIT (AP)—The sky's the limit for skyscraper Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, newly crowned champion of National Basketball Assn. scorers and rebounders.

Fabulous, phenomenal, fantastic—call the 7-foot-2 rookie anything you like—Chamberlain has scored more points in a single season than the old crown-wearers ever dreamed was possible.

Chamberlain poured in 41 points Tuesday night in a losing cause. His Philadelphia Warriors went down to a 122-113 defeat at the hands of the Detroit Pistons.

His 57-game total — he missed one game with the flu — is 2,134. This is 29 points better than the old record set last season by Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks.

The NBA hiked its schedule to 75 games this year, so Chamberlain, 22, has 18 more games in which to build the record. At the rate he is going, he will score in the neighborhood of 2,818 points — not counting playoffs.

The gangling recruit also established a single-season rebounding record, pulling down 17 for a 1,614 total, two better than the mark set last season by Boston's Bill Russell.

A flock of ex-scoring champions were on hand to see Wilt's record-busting performance, in addition to the paying crowd of 8,201 that gave him a standing ovation when he was presented with the basketball.

It sounds a little far-fetched, but Wilt really wasn't at his best in his record-setting performance. A collision in Sunday's game at St. Louis jammed several teeth into his lower jaw and the big fellow has had practically no sleep, no solid food and only three glasses of orange juice since.

He could barely talk after the game. Just enough to say "I'm just playing basketball. I'm not trying to prove anything."

Syracuse whipped Cincinnati in the opener of the doubleheader, 117-111.

In another doubleheader in St. Louis, the Boston Celtics routed the Minneapolis Lakers 129-90, and the St. Louis Hawks downed the New York Knickerbockers 114-104.

Colavito-Lane Talks Enter Second Day

CLEVELAND (AP)—The heat was going out of the salary dispute between outfielder Rocky Colavito and General Manager Frank Lane as their talks at the Cleveland Indians' stadium office went into a second day today.

Colavito came here from his home in Temple, Pa. somewhat incensed and feeling Lane wanted to trade him, Lane was making him unpopular with the fans and Lane was exaggerating the club's offers and Rocky's demands.

But Tuesday, according to Lane, "It was all very amiable."

And Colavito commented: "He gave a little, and so did I. We're not too far apart now."

Lane said he "never tried to run Rocky down," adding: "That would be foolish. You can't run a player down and then expect the fans to pay $2.75 to see him."

"But I don't want him to run us down either, by implying that our offer was 'ridiculously low.' This is not a cheap organization."

Colavito earned $28,000 last season, and Lane's original offer, now increased some, was reported to have been $32,000. Colavito appeared to be shooting for around $35,000.

Jackson-Milton Upset by Warren

The Jackson-Milton Blue Jays found Warren hospitality thin on Tuesday night, as they were upset by Warren St. Mary's 40-36.

The Warren squad, scoring its first win of the season, was led by Gallo, who netted 13 points. Norton had nine while Mink tallied eight for the Mohawks.

Blue Jay Jim Reeves took scoring honors for his team, bringing home 15 markers, while teammate Mike Walochack had 13.

Warren jumped to an 8-3 lead in the first period, and padded the margin to 22-16 by the half.

Jackson-Milton got back in the game in the third division to slash the gap to 30-26.

Action was fast in the final canto, but the Blue Jays found the Warren scoring machine too rugged to stop.

Jackson-Milton presently holds a 7-9 season standing, while in Inter-County League play the Blue Jays are 4-3.

Jackson will meet invading Lowellville Friday night.

In the preliminary fray last night, the Blue Jay Reserves downed Warren 30-29.

Minerva Rips Palestine For 2nd Tri-County Title In Row

Invading Team Bested 84-55

Hardgrove Tallies 32 for Winners

Minerva clinched its second straight Tri-County League title Tuesday night when it defeated the invading East Palestine Bulldogs 84-55.

Last night's victory was even more impressive than the 76-51 pasting the Lions gave the Bulldogs earlier in the season.

The Lions copped their victory by placing nine men in the scoring column, four of them in the double figures. Players with over 10 points were: Ron Hardgrove, 32, by far his best effort of the season; Criss Ferris, 17; Walt Loudon, 11; and Chuck Wilson, 10. Hardgrove got it of his points in the final frame.

High point men for the Bulldogs were Jay Bush with 13, and Jim Hartshorn and Charles Bruno with 11 and 10, respectively.

Minerva had no trouble holding quarter leads of 21-8, 35-19 and 58-36.

The Lions had a good night from the floor, hitting on 55 per cent of their shots. East Palestine canned only 37 per cent of its fielders.

In the prelim, Minerva was again victorious, defeating the Bulldogs 60-31.

Both teams will see loop action again Friday night when Minerva is the guest of Sebring and East Palestine journeys to Leetonia.

Stith Scores 46 as Bonnies Win 90-89

By The Associated Press
At 6-foot-2, Tom Stith looks about as big as the tiny armory in Olean, N.Y., where his St. Bonaventure basketball team plays its home games. Put 'em together and they're plain murder.

That's what happened Tuesday night when Stith scored 46 points to help the Bonnies to a spine-tingling 90-89, triple overtime victory over a good Providence College team for its 92nd consecutive home victory, longest such string in the nation. The Bonnies now have a 12-3 over-all record.

Things are getting a little hot down in the Southwest too, with the Southwest Conference unable to shake its tie for first place. Texas AVM beat Arkansas 77-68 but are still tied for first with Southern Methodist which rapped Rice 66-52. Baylor knocked off Texas Christian 75-60 in another conference game.

North Carolina State won its fourth straight, 63-53 over Duke in an Atlantic Coast Conference game, while Virginia Military clinched a Southern Conference playoff berth, beating Davidson 72-60.

Holy Cross won its ninth straight as Spence Thompson laid in a field goal in the final two seconds to beat Ivy League leader Dartmouth, 72-71. Boston College outlasted Harvard 86-82 and LaSalle was hard-pressed to beat little Albright, 73-67.

Chattanooga won its first basketball game ever over a Southeastern Conference team, upsetting Mississippi 76-74 while Mississippi State needed a pair of fouls in an overtime period to nip tiny Morehead, 75-73.

In the Far West, Oregon State beat Portland 51-43; Santa Clara romped over St. Mary's 74-48; and San Jose State beat College of Pacific, 58-50.

WRESTLING CARD COMPLETE

Wrestling promoter Vince Risco has completed the four bout card at the Struthers Field House for Saturday night by matching Billy "Red" Lyons against Ramon Lopez and Howard Martin against Baron Gattoni in preliminaries.

The main attraction will be a tag team match, bringing together Mike and Doc Gallagher against Bobo Brazil and Illio DiPaulo. The semi-final bout will be between Angelo Poffo and Dick Beyers.

Miami Defeats Marshall; Capital, Wittenberg Win

By The Associated Press
Wittenberg stepped closer to clinching another Ohio Conference basketball championship Tuesday night. The Tigers swamped Marietta 84-47 for their ninth O. C. win without a loss.

Meanwhile, Miami scored a Mid-American Conference victory over invading Marshall, 86-78; Capital whipped Heidelberg 75-64 and Denison squelched Kenyon 78-77 in overtime in battles of Ohio Conference aslorsans, and Findlay rolled up a 109-87 count on Ashland in a Mid-Ohio League fray.

In nonleaguers rounding out the Ohio college slate, Kent State of the MAC conquered Presidents' Conference leader John Carroll, 78-65; Ohio University, MAC pacesetter, waltzed past Stewart AFB (N. Y.), 95-74; Central State nipped Baldwin-Wallace 85-81, and Wilberforce downed Rio Grande 71-66.

Wittenberg's defensive demons shows their stuff again. The Tigers (14-2) stopped Marietta's Carl Wolfe and Sam Hirt with 15 and 4 points respectively. Wolfe, league leader, had been averaging 28 and Hirt 19. Wittenberg outrebounded the Pioneers 67 to 29 and got a 22-point job from Bert Price.

Miami ran up early leads of 13-1 and 34-14 on Marshall, but the Herd thundered back to within two points at 67-65 in a futile rally. Marshall scoring ace John Milhoan racked up 31 points, but the Redskins' Vern Lawson produced 32.

Don Dicke scored 22 points to pace Capital, which led throughout over Heidelberg, whose Duane Warns tallied 21. Denison overcame a 28-point effort by Kenyon's Jeff Slade by converting 28 of 44 free throws while the Lords ringed only 15 of 36.

Findlay romped away from Ashland after leading by only 50-48 at halftime. George Keller scored 32 for the Oilers.

Len Blaine of Central State and Ron Wright of Baldwin - Wallace scored 23 points each and Kent's Oliver Wallace netted 21 to highlight the other games. Ohio U. had six players in double-figures as the Bobcats (12-4) got hot in the second half after a seesaw duel that was 37-35, Ohio, at intermission.

Wellsville Beats Beaver 39-28

Tigers Overcome Stall by Losers

Wellsville, second place team in Columbiana County, was victorious Tuesday night on the hard boards of Beaver Local, trimming the Beavers 39-28.

The low score was caused by the man-to-man press employed by Wellsville for almost the entire game and by the stall used by the Beavers. For exampe, in the third quarter, three minutes of play elapsed before a point was scored.

Only one man was able to hit in the double figures: Franklin Jackson who paced the Tigers with 10 points.

Jackson was aided in the scoring column by Bob Kiggins with nine and by Milt Lamp and Ray Franklin with seven each.

The Beavers were led by Thurmau Allen with eight, followed closely by Bill Reed and Jim Pike with seven and six, respectively.

The Tigers were never in any trouble, holding quarter leads of 10-4, 17-15 and 26-20. With its victory, Wellsville advanced its season slate to 10-3.

Beaver Local now stands at 6-9.

Wellsville made it a clean sweep last night by winning the preliminary game 57-35. Pacing the Tiger cubs was Rich Gray with 21 tallies while John Baker was high for Beaver Local with 13 points. Both teams will see action again Friday: Beaver Local as host to Salineville and Wellsville at Chester, W. Va.

Olympic Athletes Hope for Clear Skies

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—An international field of athletes from 25 nations looked hopefully today for clearing weather and the chance for some final hard winter Olympic Games training.

Just eight days remain before the Feb. 18 opening ceremony, and the rain and snowstorms the past three days in this High Sierra valley have drastically curtailed practice.

Exceptions are the figure skaters who work inside the 3-million-dollar ice arena.

Although 25 nations have checked into the Olympic village not all teams are complete and seven are yet to be represented.

Despite the storm and the flood threat of Monday, the $20,000,000 site of the Olympics was returning to normal.

However, skiing was permitted only on Papoose Peak, the games' site of the ladies' slalom and the ladies' giant slalom.

KT22, scene of the men's giant slalom and women's downhill, and Squaw Peak where the men's downhill is scheduled, remained closed.

"We can have them ready two days after the storm clears," said Willy Schaeffler, director of ski events.

Predictions were for a let-up in the storm today with 35 inches of new snow in this 2½-mile valley.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Thomas Sturgeon of Salem reports a large wedge of geese seen flying over Salem last week and wants to know if this is not unusual. The answer: it is no more unusual than the weather we have been having.

Neither birds nor waterfowl seem to migrate south with the approach of winter any more. It takes a lot of snow and ice to force them to move on where they can find food.

Robins wintering over in Ohio is a common thing. Songbirds, like the mourning dove, can be seen in groups of 4 or 5 or by the dozens feeding in the corn fields where the mechanical corn pickers have left sufficient grain to take care of their food supply.

THE POINT seems to be this—food is the essential thing. As long as the birds can find plenty to eat they are just as winter hearty as a cardinal or a junco, commonly called "snowbird."

Establishing a feeder for birds in the winter gives the individual a lot of satisfaction. When the birds flock to the feeders, the provider looks on with satisfaction at the gaiety that goes on among their feathered friends.

Sparrows, titmice, juncos, downy and hairy woodpeckers, cardinals and other species that have been able to take care of themselves since the beginning of time, find their food plattered to them.

THEIR NORMAL diet of weed seeds, grubs, decayed fruit etc., are passed up so the weed seeds can produce more weeds and the grubs can hatch into more insects.

The old bluejay, a would be gangster, takes over the cafeteria when he flies in. Other birds scatter. He does not fool the other birds with his hawk-like calls and when he has finished gorging himself with suet and other bird goodies, the smaller birds return to the feeder.

PLANS FOR the Water and Boat safety program are beginning to shape up. A call from Dr. Irwin at East Liverpool, offers the use of his Lake Marwin and the P.A. system. This will take care of the

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has been employed by his firm for five years. In 1958 they opened a branch office and my husband thought for sure he would get the promotion. A less experienced man got it instead. The same thing happened again in 1959. Both men who were promoted over my husband were younger and it was humiliating. The boss gave him two raises but it didn't make up for the hurt feelings.

We know the reason my husband was passed over is because he is not of the same religion as the owners. The other men are. Should he stay with this job and hope for a break, or leave?—T.D.

Dear T.D.: Could it be the reason your husband was passed over was because the boss didn't think he had the ability to handle the branch offices?

I am not suggesting this is the case because I'm in no position to make such a judgment. However, people frequently use the religion angle as a cover-up when a coveted promotion goes to someone else.

Since you and your husband feel your religion is interfering with his progress, I suggest he look for another position. An unhappy employee is a second-rate employee and he never will be content in this situation.

Gets Airlines Job

Mary Arlene Webber

Miss Mary Arlene Webber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Webber of New Waterford, has joined National Airlines in New York City as a reservation agent.

Miss Webber, a Fairfield Township High School graduate, was recently graduated from National School of Aeronautics, Kansas City, Mo. She formerly was employed in Columbiana.

student with a small allowance. I go with a girl who has a big appetite.

Friday and Saturday nights we go to a little hangout where they serve short orders but this gal of mine eats two of everything. I can't tell her to "watch her figure" because she's very skinny and trying to put on weight.

I like her a lot but she's eating herself out of my life. Please help me. This is no joke.—PAUL THE PAUPER.

Dear Pauper: Level with this human disposal unit. Tell her you can't afford her appetite. Most teens like to go to eating places to see and be seen. A sandwich and a cup of hot chocolate should do nicely.

Little Peck's Okay

Dear Ann: Our first grandchild arrived eight weeks ago and we're still on Cloud 9. The baby's father is fussier than the mother—in fact he's almost antisepic.

I gave the little girl a peck on the cheek and he got mad. He said no one is to kiss the child as it's unhealthy. I don't mean slobber, Ann, but isn't a little peck on the cheek okay?—GRANDPA G. J.

Dear Gramps: Tell the baby's father HE didn't ask if he could kiss your daughter and you're not asking HIM. A little peck should be permissible.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Patrolmen Late at Dinner; Had Reason

CLEVELAND (AP)—A dinner honoring state highway patrolmen for their devotion to duty was held here Tuesday night, but because of their devotion to duty a patrol sergeant from Columbus and a corporal from Hamilton arrived 23 minutes late.

Occasion for the dinner was promotion of State Troopers of Ohio, an organization of business leaders formed 15 months ago to provide financial help for widows and orphans of patrolmen killed in service.

Cpl. E. P. Goffo of Hamilton picked up Sgt. S. L. Adomaitis in Columbus and the pair were driving north on U. S. 42, headed for the banquet, when police radio gave the license number of a stolen car. They spotted the car and took into custody two 15-year-old girls, whom they turned over to the patrol post at Medina.

Elderly Couple, Tot Die In Cleveland Fire

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three persons died from smoke fumes in a $5,000 fire at 1197 E. 81st St. Tuesday night—an elderly couple and an 18-month-old girl.

Dead were John and Beatrice Davidson, in their 70s, and the baby girl believed to be the daughter of the Davidsons' son, Lincoln J., of Jefferson, Ohio.

Neighbors said the child was brought to the six-room apartment Tuesday afternoon to stay overnight.

Battalion Chief John Stritof said the blaze started in the basement. He received neighbors' reports that the Davidsons had been having trouble with a faulty coal furnace, but made no immediate official finding on the cause.
